DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on February 26, 2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sangeeta et al. (US Patent 5,976,265).

Sangeeta discloses a process for removing a thermal barrier coating from a metallic substrate surface (col. 1, lines 11-19 and col. 2, lines 26-28), the method comprising directing an air jet at the thermal barrier coating on the substrate surface of the component, the jet comprising non-abrasive particulate media such as glass beads, the average particle size being less than 500 microns, the air jet being directed at the thermal barrier coating at a pressure less than about 40 psi sufficient to remove the thermal barrier coating but insufficient to damage the substrate surface, see column 5, lines 54-67, column 7, lines 53-67 and column 8, lines 1-4.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 8-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant's Admitted Prior Art (AAPA) in view of Sangeeta et al.

Applicant, at pages 1-3 of the specification to be known as AAPA, discloses known methods of removing thermal barrier coatings from turbine blades as well as from laser drilled cooling holes in turbine hot section components. Known methods include waterjet blasting to remove barrier coating from components during manufacturing and repair, including air-cooled components, which creates wear and erosion of the underlying substrate. AAPA does not disclose directing an air jet at the thermal barrier coating on the substrate coating, the jet containing non-abrasive particulate media and being emitted from a nozzle at a low pressure insufficient to damage the substrate surface. However Sangeeta et al. teaches such thermal barrier removing process, see column 5, lines 54-67, column 7, lines 53-67 and column 8, lines 1-4. Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made, to have removed the thermal barrier coating from the cooling holes of a metallic turbine engine by directing an air jet at the thermal barrier coating, the jet containing non-abrasive particulate media and being emitted from a nozzle at a low pressure, in light of the teachings of Sangeeta et al., in order to remove the thermal barrier coating without damaging the underlying metallic surface of the substrate.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-27, including the filed affidavit, have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
